

LOVE'S CURE NOT QUITE COMPLETE

Probate Judge Dismisses Petition of Young Man Who Wants to Marry.

IS DECLARED INCOMPETENT.

Since He Became Enamored of Illinois Girl He Has Greatly Improved Mentally — Appeals for Trial by Jury.

Believing that love had not worked a complete cure, Judge Wurdeman yesterday denied the petition of Henry Menke of Ferguson, who was declared incompetent by a jury fourteen months ago, but who, having become so enamored of a young

Menke will not rest until he has been declared competent, so he took an appeal. Mrs. Mary Klesner of Blue Mound, Ill.,

make his trial. It is said that he is willing, but as he is incapable of entering into a contract, the ceremony must be delayed until another trial is held, application for which was made immediately after Judge Wurdeman's decision yesterday.

estate valued at $2,500. As soon as he attained his majority, Chris Bangert, his uncle, asked that a guardian be appointed to keep him from squandering his property. Bangert, himself, was appointed.

According to the evidence at the trial

Several months ago Behle went to Blue Mound, Ill., to visit his sister. Before Behle left Menke declared that he believed he would like to marry, and asked Behle to ascertain if there were any available girls in Illinois.

first, but when he got to his sister's house he found a young woman that she had raised, of marriageable age, and he jestingly suggested that she write to Menke. She did so. From the day Menke received the missive an improvement in his condienough money to buy a ticket to Blue Mound. When he got it he hastened to the Illinois town and fell deeply in love with Miss Klesner. It is said that she reciprocated. Menke remained in Blue Mound for a week and returned a different Judge Wurdeman closely interrogated Menke on the witness stand yesterday. While he thought that he showed signs of improvement, yet he said that he wasaverse to disturbing the finding of a jury.

fourteen months ago. He decided against the petitioner, but suggested that a jury trial be held.

Acting on the suggestion Menke at once filed another petition for the removal of his guardian. The case will be tried by

NO FRESH MEAT FOR THE INDIANS

Butcher Did Not Bring Daily Supply and Doctor McGee Had to Issue Orders for Bacon.

Consternation prevailed in the Indian camp at the World's Fair yesterday. The butcher failed to pay his usual daily visit to the camp. The Indians refused to tranquilly accept this neglect. The squaws rose with the fast for their braves. The supplies of Saturday had been exhausted. It was "blue" Monday for the squaws. They faced empty larders. But they did not mind this at first, for they momentarily expected the arrival of the butcher's ing for the delivery of food supplies. They waited until the sun burnt forth full over their reservation. Consulting each other they decided that it must be at least noon.

It was in anything but a pleasant frame of mind that the Indians sought Doctor WJ McGee, chief of the Anthropology Department, to voice their displeasure and Twenty-five of them, armed with tomahawks and bows and arrows went to pay a call on Doctor McGee.

Doctor McGee listened to their grievance; assured them that the neglect would not occur again, and finally satisfied them with an order on the Indian commissary department for horses.

There are few Indians at the Exposition who are fed on Government rations. Most of them are independent farmers or ranchmen and never receive rations from the Government. While they are at the Frank Dungguld Still Missing.

Frank Dungguld, who disappeared from the Missouri Baptist Sanitarium last Thursday, has not yet been found by his friends. P. Peterson of No. 2314 Locust street, has notified Dungguld's parents, who 19 inches in height and weighed 160 pounds. He was lame in his left leg as a result of a paralytic stroke. At the time of his disappearance he wore a gray suit, black hat and tan shoes. He had been an inmate of the sanitarium four months.

For

That Ache

After a day of seeing things—a day replete with strife against the sun, the wind, and the dust
—a day that makes the eyes

Fond's Extract, will do more to bring relief than a night of rest.
When fatigued sponge the body with Fond's Extract.
Sold only in sealed bottles under buff wrapper.

COMPLIANCE.
